

2022 North Sound Race and Health Equity Conference

Saturday, March 12, 2022

9 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Virtual (Zoom)

This is a free conference, co-sponsored by Family Care Network, PeaceHealth, Chuckanut Health Foundation, North Sound Accountable Community of Health, Northwest Washington Medical Society, and Skagit Regional Health. Funds raised support the North Sound Health Equity Scholarship.

Conference goals:

1. Define health equity and why it is important. Describe the need for accurate and up-to-date data regarding the extent of racial health disparities in northwest Washington.
2. Describe impact of environmental and social stressors on health outcomes and racial health disparities in our region.
3. Describe how racism impacts patient and provider experience in our local community.
4. Identify strategies to support future and current Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) medical trainees to foster a more diverse healthcare workforce better prepared to meet the needs of BIPOC patients.
5. Identify actionable steps to reduce health disparities and improve health equity within one's own clinical practice and organization.
6. Identify strategies to provide a more welcoming, nurturing, and effective healthcare environment for all patient
